TOWN AND COUNTRY.

Rabbit hunters are plenty.

The days are growing longer.

Christmas tolerably fair and pleasant.

Walk up and pay your subscription for 1876.

This is Leap Year. Give the old gal a chance.

The favor from our friend T. A. H., will appear next week.

Duck hunting is in order. They are numerous on Chucky.

The night mail now eats supper at Knoxville, at four o'clock.

The concert to be given at Mt. Bethel has been postponed. Everybody invited.

Going, going—sold to the State! was the monotonous cry of the tax collector Monday.

Esquire Enoch Moore was elected Chairman of the County Court for the ensuing year, Monday.

The colored population turned out in force to a Christmas tree frolic at their school house Christmas eve.

No man is fit to live through this glorious centennial year who does not pay his subscription promptly.

They all swore off on the First as usual. Purgatory won't be large enough to hold all the perjured by next year.

We are told that there is more sickness in our county just now than at any time since the woeful summer of 1873.

Bring in your subscription to the UNION AND AMERICAN, the liveliest weekly in East Tennessee, only $2.00 per year.

There has been a slight change in the schedule by which the night mail, eastward, arrives here ten minutes later, at 7:49.

The birds are most awfully fooled or winter is over, for we heard Mr. Robin-red-breast singing in the trees, Sunday.

Mr. Wm. Lawrence, of Lee Valley, Hawkins county, and formerly of Greeneville, was in our office Tuesday evening.

There was to have been—and probably was—a grand bear-hunt in the mountains last week. We have heard no reports from it yet.

Many contributed articles received during the last two weeks have been necessarily delayed. They will appear in good time.

The hop at the Godfrey House last Friday night was well attended. Everything passed off in fine style and those who attended were highly pleased.

They have got up a new kiss, the Centennial kiss. You take one, hummed without drawing a breath. It's patriotic—but it must be a bore.

The invitations are out for the "Silver Wedding" of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilds of Greeneville, which auspicious occasion comes off on Friday night.

The doleful test-toting of the amateur in the mysteries and miseries of brass-bandism is still to be heard in the neighborhood of Temperance Hall.

A "Calamity" has escaped Greeneville—Calamity Flournoy, we mean, who has for the time being settled down on Johnson City. Send us that letter, Si.

The State Superintendent has recommended the Caney Branch High School, among others in the State, as worthy a donation of $200 from the Peabody Fund.

The smell of powder in the celebration of the birth of the "Prince of Peace" may be very demonstrative, but lacks many elements to make it appropriate.

A Peach Grove correspondent writes us that a Literary Society was organized at Wootsey and Cave Spring College, December 3rd, 1875. They desire to have an interesting society and one that will be a help to the community. Animated by such a desire, we hazard little in predicting that they will

This is the time to lay in your sausage. Well educated licks that set up and bark for a cracker age now selling for eighteen cents per pound.—Kenton (O.) Democrat.

Some of the boys are getting up a grand duck-hunting expedition, to come off at an early day. They intend to take the river at Bird's bridge and float down to Knoxville. They are calculating on some fine sport.

In this issue we give the particulars of the killing of Robert Reed by Wm. Shanks near Grayburg, in this county. This may be accepted as a reliable version of the sad affair as our correspondent "S" is in position to understand it fully.

The new church of the colored Presbyterians is to be dedicated next week. The church now lacks only the seats and a bell to be in a finished state. The latter has been promised and a subscription paper has been circulating to obtain the seat.

The Odd Fellows received a splendid new regalia last week. Their lodge-room is fitted up in fine style and everything indicates that they intend to build up their noble order here. We hope they may be successful in obtaining a large membership.

Geo. E. Jones, Wm. Ross and D. C. Dukes were appointed Commissioners of the Poor by the County Court. Hiram P. Daily was appointed Standard Keeper. We will publish other business before the Court next week, not having space for it in this issue.

The Jonesboro Journal denies, on good authority, the statement of the Union Landmark that the project for Telford Grange Manufactory has fallen through. Glad to hear it. The Manufactory, if properly conducted, will make a great saving for our East Tennessee people.

At a regular meeting of Unaka Lodge, No. 175, I. O. O. F., Tuesday night, December 28th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: W. F. Fowler, N. G.; J. C. Lott, O. G.; R. J. Lane, Per. Sec.; W. I. O'Brien, Rec. Sec.; and Jno. F. Sturm, Treasurer.

When partaking of the Christmas turkey at the groaning board the rich man thought of the scanty, ordinary fare of the destitute poor and compassionately helped himself to another liberal supply of the bountiful repast before him. At least we presume he did for we have not heard that he made the deed as good as the will.

Our people are not so bad off, in a worldly way, as they would have themselves believe. None of them so close pressed for funds but he or she could buy something in "Christmas trink" line. More goods of this nature were brought on and disposed of this year than ever before in Greeneville.

We notice that the fence recently patented by our fellow country men, Jno. D. & Frank Hybarger, of Timber Ridge, has been favorably spoken of by many of our exchanges. We have not had the pleasure of examining it, but if it fills the bill our exchanges make for it, then we recommend it to the consideration of our farmer friends.

A little indulgence on the part of readers is asked for this week. Owing to circumstances not necessary to mention we are one day behind. The paper was worked off in a hurry and is not as well printed as we intend it shall be in the future. And to cap the climax our devil attempted to correct the fourth and fifth pages and made two errors where one should have been corrected. Our working force is now in competent hands and the paper will be found in the mails every Thursday morning.

Another shameful case illustrating the brazen injustice and oppressiveness of the U. S. Revenue laws has recently come under our observation. An old man, so badly crippled with rheumatism as to be unable to get about in the natural way, was, not long ago, induced, in ignorance of the infernal tobacco laws, to sell a small lot of leaf tobacco to some one. He was informed on, and now has had to give bond for his appearance before that imposition known as the Federal court to answer to a charge of "defrauding the Revenue."

At the meeting of the Directors of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Association on Monday the 3rd inst., a committee was appointed to prepare a Premium List for the Fall Fair and make arrangements for the same. It is understood that the premiums for this year will all be cash. Already from forty to fifty dollars in Special Premiums have been offered and it is expected that near two hundred dollars in Special Premiums will be offered. Any one desiring to offer a Special Premium for any article will inform A. B. Willson the Treasurer that it may have a place in the Premium List.

We had the pleasure of seeing the Christmas tree around which the family of Mr. Jos. R. Brown gathered at his elegant home, on "Manion Hill," last Friday eve. The tree was beautifully and appropriately decked. Pendant from it were many presents for old and young—for the grand-sire and for the toddling grand child—while around it were clustered numerous gifts too weighty for the frail cedar boughs. It was a charming picture which will not soon fade from our memory.
